Vacation in a Bottle

In 2020, we added a skin contact white, or orange wine, to the Love You Bunches quiver. A pun about gentle hand harvesting each grape bunch, Love You Bunches has gained devoted fans throughout the world of wine. The brand's Scribner, Ruben Solorzano, the happiest, most joyful person we've ever met, makes the labels even more whimsical with his unique handwriting style.

Over the past 6 vintages, we have refined the Orange's blend. Pinot Gris provides rich, coating texture as well as ample color. Chardonnay brings acidity and a citrus component. Finally, a touch of Gewürztraminer flourishes exotic tropical notes creating "a vacation in a bottle".

Following a dry winter with Spring precipitation trickling into April, vines awoke out of dormancy late. Summer remained cool, further delaying the growing season. Because of 2025's late ripening, lower vine yield became even more critical in 2025. Vines with less grapes to ripen were able to do so by Mid-September into October, after an unusually long hang-time on the vine. In 2025, the earlier ripening white varietals enjoyed a bit longer hang time to develop more nuance and texture. The cool weather also allowed the grapes to retain crisp, refreshing acidity.

Tropical fruit medley with exotic jasmine playfully pops out of the glass with whiffs of misty ruby red grapefruit. Redder notes of fruit punch and fresh berry juice provide depth and richness. Firm and coating with a snap of citrus to balance and keep the wine delightfully refreshing. A generous, fruit forward orange wine but with the restraint of a perfectly balanced, quenching acidic backbone.
